

WELCOME

Welcome back to Term 2!

Exactly 10 years ago we started our first Arts a Go Go! classes – Term 2, 2008! One of the best decisions I ever made. I love our students, teachers and families and how lucky am I to work doing a job that combines my greatest passions – children, young people, teaching and the performing arts. Happy Birthday Arts a Go Go! and thank you to you all for being part of it. I'm sharing some of my favourite photos of the last 10 years on facebook over the next few weeks, so do look out for them.

Also in this newsletter: shows and dates are announced, many congratulations made and sadly we farewell our Wednesday drama teacher Bop.

Have a great Term 2! If there are ever any concerns, do contact me.

Pinehaven couple offer performing arts classes

by ROSEMARY MCLENNAN

PERFORMING ARTS classes for children are being offered by a new Upper Hutt-based organisation.

Pinehaven residents Rachel Main and husband Stuart Grant are putting together a programme of classes called Arts a Go Go! to be offered on Saturday afternoons to 6-8 year olds and 9-11 year olds from the beginning of term two.

Rachel is a teacher with a performing arts background and experience in musical theatre and children's entertainment.

She will be teaching singing and creative dance while Stuart teaches drama.

Both have a passion for introducing children to performing arts.

"They learn so much through the creative arts including problem solving and confidence," says Rachel.

It's also a great way for kids to keep fit and improve balance and co-ordination, she says.

The couple, who have lived in Pinehaven since 2006, already have a waiting list for the 6-7 year olds but there is still space for 9-11 year olds.

The couple have hired space at St Margaret's Presbyterian Church, which has good facilities, Rachel says.

She says there are lots of opportunities to learn dance in Upper Hutt but less in the "one stop shop" of dance, singing and drama.

More information about Arts a Go Go! is available at www.artsagogo.co.nz or phone 977 7887.

TEACHERS

Soon we will farewell Wednesday Drama Teacher Bop Murdoch

Sadly, we will soon be saying goodbye to our much loved Wednesday drama teacher Bop Murdoch. This has been a big decision for Bop who is leaving a job that she loves and her students who she adores. She has used the words "heartbroken" to be leaving us, and I know many students and parents will feel the same, as do I. Some of you may remember that Bop and her two colleagues started a social enterprise in Wellington called "CoLiberate" with the aim of promoting a positive gym type culture for mental health - to nourish the mind. The business has expanded significantly, including moving into new premises, and now requires even more focus from Bop. On top of this, Bop continues to produce and direct top notch theatre in Wellington, with her recent play "Committed" winning the Parkin Development Award at the Fringe Festival. Bop will still be around at the start of term to take the classes and see the students. We are currently advertising and interviewing for her replacement. Hannah, Stu and I will take Wednesday drama after Bop leaves until the perfect person comes along. So far we have had some excellent applicants.

Thank You to Lucy de Jong

Irish Dancing teacher Lucy has gone above and beyond to transition teacher Shannon last term and be there to support our students, particularly our beginners and students doing their grade exams. Lucy will be heading overseas to work in California later this year. We look forward to seeing Lucy support our girls at comps in May. Laura Kelly from Reeljig School of Irish Dance, the umbrella school that our students compete under, has praised the quality of both Lucy and Shannon's teaching.
